IMPERIAL ILLUMINATED ATLAS

SOURCE REFERENCE BOARD / Constantinople, 715 CE / Exploration round 1

REAL REFERENCES - NOT GENERATED EVIDENCE

R1 Theodosian Walls

Modern photograph; uploaded 2006

Study: Heavy masonry, brick bands, tower/curtain rhythm.

Boundary: Surviving/restored fabric is not a complete 715 state.

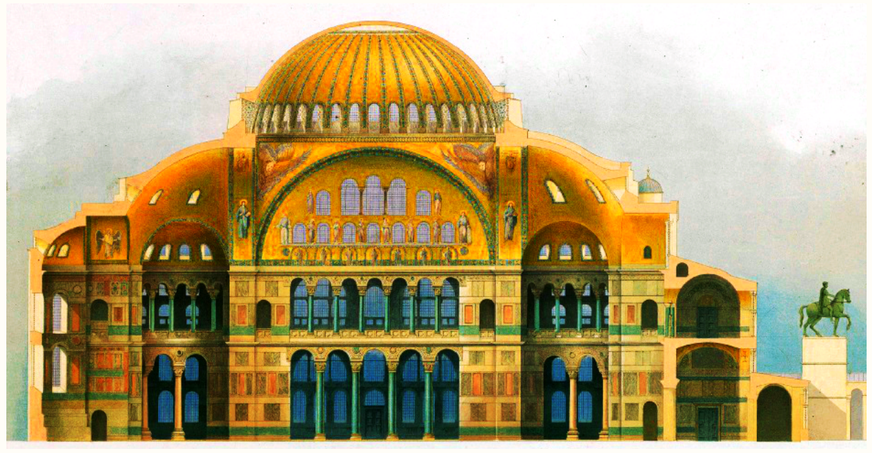

Credit: CrniBombarder!!! / Wikimedia Commons

Reuse: Author-released public domain, per source page

SOURCE RECORD + RIGHTS (click)

R2 Hagia Sophia / Salzenberg plate

Nineteenth-century architectural representation

Study: Dome and supporting volumes; disciplined architectural drawing.

Boundary: Later depiction: not direct 715 evidence; reject later attachments.

Credit: C. W. Kortum, W. Salzenberg et al., 1854 / Commons

Reuse: Public domain / PD-Art as marked on source page

SOURCE RECORD + RIGHTS (click)

R3 Vienna Genesis / Rebecca and Eliezer

Sixth-century manuscript; modern digital reproduction

Study: Precious pigment, patterned narrative space, assured fine drawing.

Boundary: A biblical scene, not Constantinople's street plan.

Credit: Anonymous late antique illuminators; ONB scan / Commons

Reuse: Public domain / PD-Art as marked; no modern facsimile rights assumed

SOURCE RECORD + RIGHTS (click)

R5 Turner / Venice: The Dogana...

1834 oil painting - TECHNIQUE ONLY

Study: Marine light, luminous warm/cool intervals, atmospheric recession.

Boundary: Do not borrow Venetian buildings, gondolas or later sail rigs.

Credit: J. M. W. Turner, 1834; NGA, Widener Collection, 1942.9.85

Reuse: Media marked public domain by the National Gallery of Art

SOURCE RECORD + RIGHTS (click)

Translate techniques, never transplant later buildings. R1 is surviving fabric; R2 is an 1854 reconstruction; R3 informs manuscript craft; R5 supplies atmosphere only. The exact 715 architecture still requires dated feature review.

Additional material record: The Met 09.217.11, carved Egyptian limestone capital, fifth-sixth century (public-domain object record). Image endpoint unavailable; linked in the source register, not fabricated here.